

My name is Kira Brown, I graduated from Virginia State University with my B.A. in Education. I continued my learning at Liberty University with a M.Ed in Administration and Supervision. I am a Teacher and Tutor that believes all students are capable of learning and sessions should be individualized and catered to the needs of the student. I have a heart for math and have been tutoring students in Elementary, Middle, High School & College level. I am currently a 6th grade math teacher in Hopewell, VA. When I am not sharing my love for math you can find me working on DIY project and painting.
